BEFORE YOU LEAVE!

Subscribe to the smart traveller

This was very reassuring. Subscribe and keep up to date with any issues that may develop in your visiting countries. Remember that most travel insurance won't cover you if a "do not travel" warning is issued to the country you are travelling to. Therefore, taking a screenshot of the current travel advice at the time of booking is essential.

Your house & Car

Keep your house safe, locked and a key with someone you trust in case of emergencies. If you have plants that need to be watered, let the person know. Leave your car in a secured area (preferably a garage) and away from falling branches, easy-to-flood areas, and rain/hail damage.

Mail redirection

Either have someone collect your mail or head down to your post office and have it redirected for the time you are away. It's peace of mind.

Out-of-Office Response

If you do not intend to look at work emails whilst on vacation, setting up an out-of-office response would be a good idea. I found that a simple message letting people know that I was away from my desk taking annual leave was enough.

Your bills

Opt-in for electronic bills so you can pay them when they are due. Ensure you can log in and make transfers whilst overseas.

Social media

As tempting as sharing your vacation and all those fantastic photos might be, wait till you get back. Don't become a victim of home invasion and theft by sharing your vacation information socially.

Credit Cards

Let your credit card provider know the countries you will visit, so they don't block your card.

House Keys

Leave a key with someone you trust, and don't forget to take a set of keys with you!
